OpRisk Global Series

Driving best practices in operational risk

Shape the future of operational risk

The OpRisk Global Series attracts more than 650 senior decision-makers across operational, cyber, third-party, digital, technology and emerging risks, along with governance, financial crime and compliance. This senior audience is seeking innovative insights and practical solutions to the industry's most pressing challenges.

Moving beyond the Covid-19 pandemic, firms are grappling with a new world of risk in which inflation, emerging risks, increased financial crime, human error and employee disengagement contribute to operational risk losses and increased risk. Join the discussion to help senior decision-makers stay ahead amid an evolving landscape.
